FRANCISCO RENDON (47), n. of New Mexico, parents unknown, soldier and widowed of Petrona Lopez buried in the Santa Fe church, and Catarina Maese (32), n. of New Mexico, widow of Juan Antonio Dominguez, d. of Miguel Maese and Maria Varela. — Witnesses: Jose Manuel Giltomey, notary; Andres Montoya of La Cieneguilla, farmer and married; Juan Garcia de Noriega, Juan Lujan, soldier, and Pedro Guillen, all four married and all of whom bring up the following impediment, claiming that the bride's first husband was the groom's own brother, since Rendon was likewise a natural son of Jose Dominguez. Testimonies:

Pedro Guillen (47), soldier, says that while he was in the 1720 Villasur Expedition with Capt. Jose Dominguez, the latter had sworn to him that Francisco Rendon was his son; upon his return, Guillen questioned Rendon on the matter, and the latter allowed that he had heard such a rumor. — Juan Garcia de Noriega (46), married to Maria de Vega, says that, while he was in the house of Petrona Lopez, Rendon's first wife, she had pointed to Nereo Sisneros passing by as Rendon's brother; but when he questioned her further, she had said that Rendon was actually the bastard son of Jose Dominguez; Rendon himself had told Garcia that he was marrying the widow of a man whom people called his brother. — Andres Montoya (53) of La Cieneguilla says that at Pecos Pueblo he had talked about it with Ana Maria de Almazan, Rendon's own sister, who had wondered how this could be, for their being closely related to his (Montoya's) wife, Antonia Lucero, and hence that her brother Francisco was related to his wife; but then Ana Maria Almazan had turned around to say that her brother was the son of Jose Dominguez, the reputed father of Juan Antonio Dominguez. — Juan Lujan (56), soldier married to Maria Martin, says that the late Jose Dominguez had told him to regard Rendon as his relative since he was his son, as was Juan Antonio Dominguez.

Testimonies in Rendon's behalf: Francisco Cadenas de Hinojos (70), married to Leonor Montaño, says that Rendon's mother was Maria Madrid, alias La Mozonga, and that Jose Dominguez could not have been the father; for at the time when the mother was pregnant with Rendon, Jose Dominguez was living in the Rio Abajo with relatives, where his parents had sent him for his being a scalawag, and where he was being taught to read; besides, the mother herself had told him at different times who Rendon's actual father really was, for the latter himself with La Mozonga and her Francisco Rendon had been made captives by the Indians at Picuris. (1680 Pueblo Revolt.) — Martin Fernandez Valerio (47) of Chimayo, married to Maria Montoya, says that he knew Rendon since they both were small children, when they and other little boys were being taught to read in Santa Fe by Fray Francisco de Azebedo, whose housekeeper at the time was Rendon's mother; because Rendon used to badger the other lads, Padre Azebedo had once asked his mother who the father of such a brat could be, and she had replied that the father was a certain individual now dead, but she did not name Jose Dominguez. — Manuel Chirinos (63), español, married to Juana Montoya, says that he knew Rendon for 40 yrs., and that he knew Maria Madrid, alias La Mozonga, quite well, and that she had never named Jose Dominguez as her Boy's father. — Francisco Rendon's own testimony: When she was alive, his mother Maria Madrid had wanted him to marry the daughter of Jose Dominguez, but that Tomas Jiron had prevented him so that his own son, Dimas Jiron, could marry the girl. He never had regarded Jose Dominguez as his father, because his mother had told him who his actual father was! Therefore, he was not related at all to Catarina Maese's first husband. Groom states that ~~Gen.~~ Gen. Pedro Reneros de Posadas, under whom he served for 3 yrs., is trying to prevent the wedding by saying that he is already married; but groom insists on his freedom to marry.

Statement of Gen. Reneros de Posadas, and Alguacil Mayor of the Holy Office: The groom had already contracted a marriage at Vera Cruz. Other testimonies: Juan Luis, n. of New Mexico, son of Capt. Juan Luis (80) and Maria Lujan, deceased, and married to Isabel Lopez del Castillo, n. of New Mexico, the d. of Esteban Lopez, n. of Mexico City, and Maria de las Nieves, n. of New Mexico, both deceased, here deposes that in July of 1687 while "at palace" before Don Pedro Reneros, then Governor and Captain-General of New Mexico, and while helping him in preparing an incursion into New Mexico, the said groom had come in; old Capt. Luis, who was also present, had said that said groom had told his master that he wished to marry Antonia Naranjo, and that his master had said that he was pleased, preferring this step to his whoring around; but a few days later, being in a bad mood, the Governor had told said groom not to get married because he was to continue as his servant when he departed (back to New Spain).

Francisco Romero de Pedraza (55) living in El Paso, the son of Matias Romero and Da. Isabel de Pedraza, natives of New Mexico now deceased, and married to Da. Francisca Ramirez, n. of New Mexico, deposed that in July of 1687, while he was "at palace" making a pair of buckskin trousers, he had heard Gov. Posadas say that said groom was already married and hence should return to Mexico City from where he had brought him; he then had summoned Antonia Naranjo's mother to tell her the same thing. — Esteban de Berdiguil (19),

n. of Mexico City, son of Capt. Esteban de Berdiguil, deceased, and Tomasa Ruiz Banegas, and who wrote to Governor's above statement, deposed that those who claimed that said groom was already married in Vera Cruz were Juan de Samano, deceased, and a certain individual of Pamplona, both merchants in La Calle de S. Agustin in Mexico City, who had requested that said groom be put in manacles and returned to his wife. — Antonio Montoya (43) of El Paso, son of Diego Montoya and Da.
